To address the increasing interest in development and use of clinical practice guidelines the German Agency for Quality in Medicine ÄZQ (Ärztliche Zentralstelle Qualitätssicherung ÄZQ, Köln, email: CPG2002@azq.de) is sponsoring CPG 2002 - a satellite symposium of ISTAHC 2002.

An international array of experts in the area of development and appraisal of clinical practice guidelines, and of its use in health care as well as in health care administration and policy will be featured at the symposium. The goal of the symposium is to provide an international forum for an informed exchange on theoretical frameworks for clinical practice guidelines, as well as a consideration of the practical implications of implementing guidelines in health care. The program will help health care providers, decision and policy makers understand better the strengths and limitations of developing and using clinical practice guidelines

The event is co-sponsored by World Health Organisation (WHO), Council of Europe (CoE), "Appraisal of Guidelines Research and Evaluation Collaboration" (AGREE Collaboration), Agence National d'Accréditation et d'Evaluation en Santé (ANAES), Finnish Medical Society DUODECIM, National Guideline Clearinghouse - USA (NGC), National Institute of Clinical Excellence - UK (NICE), New Zealand Guideline Group (NZGG), Regional Health Care Agency of Emilia-Romagna - Italy; Scottish Intercollegiate Guidelines Network (SIGN), Swiss Medical Association (FMH), Association of the Scientific Medical Societies in Germany (AWMF), German Network for Evidence-based Medicine (DNEbM), Quality Institute for Healthcare (CBO) NL, Danish Centre for Evaluation and Health Technology Assessment (DACEHTA), Medical Chamber of Slovenia.
